1. Introduction: what is a Guide to Information and why it has been developed

One of the aims of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 (which is referred to as FOIA in the rest of this document) is that public authorities, including all maintained Schools, should be clear and proactive about the information they will make public.

To do this we must produce guide to the information we will publish, setting out:

- The classes of information which we publish or intend to publish;
- The manner in which the information will be published; and
- Whether the information is available free of charge or must be paid for

The guide covers information already published and information that is to be published in the future. All information in our guide is either available for you on our website to download and print off or available in paper form.

Some information that we hold may not be made public, for example personal information.

This publication scheme conforms to the definition document for English schools produced by the Information Commissioner.

The Board of Governors is responsible for maintenance of this scheme.

2. Aims and Objectives

The school aims to:
